

We are pleased to announce that Covenant House Academies are moving to a new on-line learning system called Edify. We anticipate that our students' learning will be enhanced as our teachers customize courses to fit their needs and abilities. We studied a number of different possibilities, but chose Edify because it was the most student-centered system we explored. This change will be implemented upon the students' return from summer break on August 7. Work they've done before summer break will be preserved and will be used to place them in the same course they were working on when we broke for the summer. We look forward to our students' continued success.
